

AMERICAN RED CROSS

VOLUNTEERS TRAINING

The Erie Chapter provides free training for those interested in a volunteer position that require specialize training. Particularly for Disaster Service and Health & Safety volunteers.

All training is done at the chapter and conducted by experienced professionals in areas such as military communications, ERV drivers, mass care, sheltering, logistics, and CPR instructors and to name a few volunteer positions (view the different categories for all position available here at the Erie Chapter).

If you are interested in becoming a volunteer but not quite sure which is the right fit for you visit www.redcross.org to view a brief volunteer orientation on some opportunities that are available for you. If your interest is helping those affected by disaster on the Red Cross web site under the volunteer section you will find the introduction to Disaster Services. This is actually your first step to becoming a disaster services volunteer.

Thank you for visiting our volunteer section and if you have any questions on becoming a volunteer please do not hesitate to contact the Red Cross at (814)833-0942.
